Summer 2008 is destined to be the summer of highest prices ever for fuel (so far); and given that so many families take holiday road trips, any relief at the pump is good news.

A growing number of hotels and even entire towns are offering a gas rebate deal or similar promotion, if you'll motor on over.

Hotels.com: Summer Drive and Save Program

Book until July 6 2008 for travel through September 1 2008; minimum stay of three nights is required for each booking, and thousands of properties are available, including hotels, vacation rentals, B & B's, and all-inclusive resorts. A gas rebate card will be mailed to guests at the completion of their stay. This promotion can be combined with other Hotels.com deals.

Branson, MO - Gas Rebate

For several years Branson has had its act together, with a city-wide promotion.

Destination Hotels and Resorts

A "Destination Drive" promotion runs from Memorial Day through Labor Day: for every night booked at any Destination Hotels & Resorts property in the US, guests receive a $25 daily room credit that can be spent on golf, spa, dining etc. To find properties, use the clickable map at the site.

Individual Properties

Lots of individual hotels and resorts are mounting their own gas rebate or similar promotion. For example:

Myrtle Beach: Marina Inn at Grande Dunes: luxury AAA Four Diamond resort with large suites offers a "Summer Fun Per Mile" deal, with gas rebate of 10 cents per mile deducted from the room bill of guests who arrive by vehicle. (3-night minimum stay, maximum 1600 miles round trip).
